

Sonora Resort

Inspiring island oasis

WHAT COULD BE MORE inspiring for a meeting or private getaway than a luxurious island resort amidst the stunning beauty of British Columbia's Inside Passage? Surrounded by swirling waters, eagles nests and pristine wilderness, Sonora Resort is akin to a nature reserve.

The esteemed magazine Resorts and Great Hotels named Sonora "Connoisseurs Choice" for 2006. Regular visitors include celebrity chefs Rob Feenie and Umberto Menghi and golf greats Fred Funk and David Duval.

After a 45-minute flight from Vancouver by floatplane, you are welcomed on the dock Sonora-style—with genuine warmth from staff. Unwind in elegant lodges and enjoy classic Pacific North West fare. The meeting spaces include a native Longhouse, a new business centre and breakout rooms (all WiFi connected).

Comfort and spectacular views

Adventure options include salmon fishing on Sonora's fleet of Grady-Whites, kayak tours or sightseeing in comfortable Eco-Boats. Later, watch seals sunbathe a few feet away as you enjoy drinks and tapas at the outdoor grill. Relax in the expansive spa with its hydrotherapy tub, specialty treatments and hot mineral pool.

Whether an incentive, reward or expression of corporate vision, Sonora makes a powerful statement. Manager Shawn Ross sums it up: "Many people introduced to Sonora on a corporate retreat end up returning with their spouses. There is an intimacy with nature here that you just want to share with someone close."
